WOMEN CONTINUE TO COMMIT CRIME.

King Edward will begin to have apparitions of militant suffragettes in war panoply, if the women of his kingdom soon do not mend their ways. He was holding court last night when a suffragette interrupted the proceedings to direct the attention of the ruler to the grievances of the women who demand the right to vote.

The suffragettes are using hatchets, bombs, fire and fierce denunciation as weapons to compel recognition. They are no respecters of person and are pursuing their campaign of destruction into the homes of royalty. Even churches are being destroyed and art galleries damaged.

Last night one of the historic churches of England was burned to the ground. This is the second act of the kind attributed to the women incendiaries.

Perhaps Conan Doyle is accurately forecasting when he says the crimes of the militant suffragettes will lead to lynchings.

AN UNRECORDED DEATH IN UTAH.

There was a time when Ogden allowed a limited amount of clean sport in the form of boxing exhibitions. That was four years ago. In response to a tremendous demand from Salt Lake, the boxing was stopped. The purity league in the capital said the sport was demoralizing and was giving the state a bad name. Then Ogden, being a dutiful child, ever responsive to the wish of the older city, replied:

"Salt Lake, oh spotless town, I would not offend thee. Your every desire shall be gratified."

Boxing stopped, but, without delay, the purity league urged upon the money changers of the capital the necessity of driving away dull care and banishing ennui, and the members said:

"We have no objection to a carnival of sport once a week, and even oftener to meet the demands of the holiday crowds. Furthermore, it has come to us that a few stray dollars escape through the failure of the saloons to remain open beyond the midnight hour. Let us close our eyes to the faithful servant in pursuit of the elusive shekel who keeps open after hours; and, be it resolved, that the saloons of Salt Lake be aided in this good work by the opening of places where women and girls can be refreshed in booths specially prepared for their reception."

The appeal was answered. The saloons were thrown open and prize fights have been held at regular intervals.

Having served its purpose, the Salt Lake purity league fell by the wayside.

This is not a fable, but an obituary notice. Salt Lake papers please copy.

NOT UNTIL HUERTA IS HUMILIATED.

Our opinion is that the mediators at Niagara Falls will meet with disappointment, if they are planning to end the Mexican struggle before Villa and his forces march into the City of Mexico.

The Constitutionalists have started out to drag Huerta from the government palace, and they neither will delegate the work nor allow any one to deprive them of the supreme pleasure of humiliating that old rascal.

Huerta has watched the victorious course of the rebels and his outward show of courage has diminished as the men of the north have drawn closer to the capital. He was above allowing any foreign power to intermeddle in the affairs of Mexico, until General Villa gave proof of his ability to drive the federals into the sea. Today Huerta would welcome armed intervention as a source of protection from the wrath of the friends of the assassinated Madero.

MORE DEATHS DUE TO THE AEROPLANE.

Two more aviators have been killed. They were seen to rise from a French military station, ascend half a mile and then drop to earth, after an explosion. That has been the fate of a score or more airmen and promises to be the end of as many more, if inventive genius does not improve on the aeroplane.

The fatalities are so many that aviation is an almost certain death.

There is not one of the original navigators of the air alive today who has persisted in making flights.

FLOWERS TAKEN FROM GARDEN AND GRAVE.

Not many places in Utah, we take it, are free from the thieves who invade flower gardens, to steal and destroy. The Logan Journal tells of a vandal who was caught:

"Many people who go to the expense and work involved in raising flowers and thus helping to improve the city's appearance, have occasional, and in some instances frequent cause to complain that they are stolen, and not only that, but plants and bushes are broken and trampled by the thieving vandals. A few arrests would help matters, especially if the judge were to hand the offenders a dose like a Nephi justice of the peace gave a Salt Lake traveling man the other day. The drummer had been out star gazing with a couple of maids, and, while passing a garden in which there were some beautiful flowers, the girls intimated they would like some, and incited him to steal them. They got the flowers and the drummer 'got it in the neck', or worse, in the pocketbook, as the justice fined him an even hundred dollars. Nor did the girls escape scot free, being fined $2 each."

Complaints reach the Standard of fice of gardens invaded and plants destroyed, but the worst form of this vandalism is the stealing of flowers from the cemeteries. There have been repeated offenses of this kind. One hundred dollars would be none too heavy a fine to inflict on any one caught in the act of robbing a grave of its floral decorations.

SURVEY OF SCHOOLS OF BUTTE.

Butte City, Montana, following the example of Ogden, has had a school survey by a board made up of Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia university, director of the survey, Dr. Elwood P. Cubberly of Stanford university, Dr. Frank P. Bachman of the New York schools, and Professors W. T. Bawden and F. J. Kelly of the Teachers' college of Columbia university.

An entire month was devoted to an exhaustive study of the schools, including plant, teaching force and community needs and the findings were summarized as follows:

Very large number of children in Butte schools over age for the grades they are in; 200 are three or more years over age for their grades.

Recommends special classes for those backward or mentally deficient. Reorganization of course of study and change in type of examination is urged, promotions being based almost wholly on ability of children to remember great number of facts.

Small elementary classes made condition almost ideal in Butte; much better than in larger cities. Teaching in general is good with regard to drill work. The work involving thinking has been neglected.

Teachers in general are with but few exceptions women of good ability, anxious to do their best for the children.

Teachers in the elementary schools have had inadequate training; summer school in Butte for professional training of teachers is recommended. Principals should be trained and their instruction paid for by district.

In urging revision of courses of study commission declares there is too much cramming of children with facts instead of developing power of independent thought.

Points to need of kindergartens, nature study and elementary science. Increase time devoted to manual and household arts—greater stress on literature, music and drawing.

Favor an intermediate school of three years for children completing the sixth grade, many of whom do not expect to attend the high school.

Tests showed pupils as good or better than those of other schools in spelling, fundamentals of arithmetic and penmanship, but weak in reasoning tests and English composition.

The commission recommends wider use of school plant, organization of special classes in the high school in early morning or late afternoon or evening; provision of greater opportunity for play and recreation in building and by purchase of playgrounds; adequate health supervision by medical inspection and visiting nurses.

School sites are too small and often undesirably located; type of buildings constructed is not satisfactory under present standards.

System of better accounting so that costs of operation in any school may be more quickly ascertained is advised.

TWO YOUNG MEN ARE SENT TO STATE PRISON

Yesterday evening a jury rendered a verdict of guilty of grand larceny against Ivan Hicks and John Riley and Judge J. A. Howell this morning sentenced them to five years each in the state penitentiary.

Hicks asked for leniency on the grounds that his sisters are broken hearted over the affair and that he is not a criminal.

Riley had nothing to say why sentence should not be pronounced, but he desired a private talk with the judge to tell the court, as he announced, that he should like to go to the state penitentiary as soon as possible so he could get something to eat. He said he did not get half enough to eat in the county jail. He was advised that he would be taken to the state prison by the sheriff in due time. Sheriff DeVine smiled over the incident and stated that the man was getting just what the rest of the prisoners received and he did not think he was suffering of hunger.

In passing sentence, Judge Howell called the attention of the young men to the fact that they had started out on criminal careers first by becoming incorrigibles and serving time in the State Industrial school, then by committing various petty offenses, and, finally, serving time in the state prison for felony similar to the offense of which they were found guilty in the case at bar. He told them that only one more term in the penitentiary, besides the one they are about to serve, would place them, under the state law, in the category of "habitual criminals" and they might be sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

On a previous occasion Hicks, according to the court record, was convicted of a felony and sentenced to eighteen months in the state prison. He told the court that he served 13 months, getting 5 months off for good behavior. He confessed, however, that he had been out of the penitentiary only 15 days when he got into the present trouble. Riley also was sentenced to the state penitentiary for felony about three years ago for a period of twenty months. He served time with some allowance for good behavior and had been out of the penitentiary only about a year when he and Hicks entered the office of Dr. J. P. Dineen and stole $200 worth of dentist's tools and clothing, April 4, 1914.

They will be taken to the penitentiary tomorrow. The men are only 23 years of age and are residents of Ogden and vicinity.

DEMOCRATS NAMED TO CONVENTION ON SATURDAY

Democrats and Progressives will hold their county conventions in Ogden tomorrow for the purpose of electing delegates to the state conventions of the two parties which will be held in Salt Lake, June 11. The Democrats will send 43 delegates to their convention while the Progressives will have 71.

Aside from the election of delegates to the conventions, both parties tomorrow may take up the question of fusion and will likely reach the point of appointing committees to confer. It is not thought by the local party leaders, however, that the delegates to the state conventions will be instructed as to what their attitude shall be in Salt Lake. It is also probable that the question of reorganization may be considered tomorrow.

The Democratic convention will meet in the county courthouse at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the Progressives will meet at 2:30. The Progressive meeting will be considered a mass meeting of all who sympathize with the Rooseveltian idea.

The Democrats held primaries last night and elected delegates to the convention, thus giving the deliberative body a duly authorized assembly. Members of the two organizations have discussed briefly the feasibility of fusing, but they have not as yet agreed as to what shall be done. The Democrats are inclined to favor fusion on the theory that the Republicans of the state should be defeated at the polls in the election of a senator and two representatives to congress.

The Progressives are inclined to be averse to fusion, taking the stand that they are right in political principle and that to fuse means to yield, in a measure, to the old line party. The following delegates were elected to the Democratic convention last evening at primaries held in the various precincts of the city, the list of delegates selected in precincts outside the city not having been reported to headquarters.

STEAM ROLLER USED AS A WRECKER ON A CAR LINE

The storm of today prevented much outdoor work and as a result nothing is being done on the streets, except to clear away debris that might clog the gutters and sewer drains. The O'Neill company began rolling the north side of Twenty-fifth street, between Washington and Adams avenues, early in the morning but the big ten-ton steam roller sank so deeply in the earth that the job was soon abandoned.

GREAT INCREASE IN THE MAIL TRANSPORTED THROUGH OGDEN

The weighing of mails, which has been going on at the Ogden Union depot and other stations in the Eighth district for the past 104 days, ceased yesterday.

The weighing was an event which occurs every four years and is done by the government for the purpose of establishing a basis on which to pay the railroads for the transportation of mail.

In past years the figures have been tabulated at the local office of the railway mail service, but this year the figures have been sent to the office of the district superintendent in San Francisco. They will be tabulated in that office and then forwarded to the office of the postmaster general at Washington. For this reason, the amount of mail that was handled during the weighing season just passed will probably not be known here for some length of time.

The mail clerks, however, show by their reports after the mail was routed out of Ogden that there has been a great increase since the weighing season four years ago. This is attributed to the parcel post system, which is especially heavy in Utah "star" or "stagecoach" lines. Utah contains several hundred miles of such lines and they are used for the transportation of every conceivable kind of commodity, not exceeding the weight limit. For instance, a recent report from one of the clerks was to the effect that he had accepted 4680 pounds of rock salt at Salina, to be put in 50-pound bags and transported by stage, across the southeastern corner of the state. Flour and other staples are also being shipped and insured by the parcel post department.

FRENCH AVIATORS LOSE THEIR LIVES

Dijon, France, June 5.—Two French aviators, Lieutenant Girone and Sapper Rioux, were killed near here today.

Peasants watching an aeroplane, which had risen from the military aviation station, and which was flying swiftly at an altitude of half a mile over the forest of Caquette, saw a burst of flame and heard an explosion. A few moments later the fragments of the aeroplane to which the aviators were strapped, fell among the trees.

Many New and Gloriously Beautiful Summer Blouses

This as you know is a "blouse season" in which you will buy and wear more blouses than last year or for several years past.

Why is this? Just this, that none of us can recall a season when fashion has concentrated so much attention and effort to bring blouses into style prominence, and to make them worthy of the important position they occupy in Summer 1914 fashions.

The brilliant displays being made in the blouse sections at this time raise the standard of those styles to a higher pinnacle of style accomplishment than ever before.

And in spite of the greater intrinsic value of the actual materials used, we have been able to price them in a remarkably modest way.

BLOUSES FROM 73c, 84c, 94c, $1.00 and up.
